

Whale Icing Transfers

Royal icing transfers are decorative icing details that can be made ahead of time and, once fully dried, applied to your cookies using wet icing as a "glue" on the bottom of the transfer.

You will NOT need to complete all of the transfers below for just one cookie. But if you plan to make additional cookies or want to save transfers for a future date you can complete this full sheet. Dried royal icing transfers can be very delicate to work with, so it's always a good idea to make a few more than you need in case of breakages.
